

Cothrom-maoineachaidh PhD (English below)

Tha tagraidhean airson àiteachan-oileanach dotaireachd ann an Sgrùdaidhean Gàidhlig agus Ceilteach ann an Oilthigh na Gàidhealtachd agus nan Eilean, 's iad air am maoineachadh leis an AHRC, a-nis fosgailte.

Cuiridh Sabhal Mòr Ostaig, Ionad Nàiseanta do Chànan agus Cultar na Gàidhlig, fàilte ro thagraidhean bho luchd-tagraidh aig a bheil teisteanasan freagarrach, gu sònraichte anns na raointean a leanas: litreachas na Gàidhlig, bho na Meadhan Aoisean don linn nuadh-aimsireil, beul-aithris, ainmeannan-àite, sòiseo-chànanachas, eachdraidh agus cultar dùthchasach na Gàidhealtachd, agus ceòl traidiseanta.

Thathas ag iarraidh air luchd-tagraidh fios a chur don Cheannard Rannsachaidh, Abigail Burnyeat, air a' chiad dol a-mach, gus conaltradh a dhèanamh mun phròiseact a tha fainear dhaibh agus pròiseas an tagraidh: ab2.smo@uhi.ac.uk

PhD funding opportunity

Applications for AHRC funded doctoral studentships in Gaelic and Celtic Studies at the University of the Highlands and Islands are now open.

Sabhal Mòr Ostaig, the National Centre for Gaelic Language and Culture, would welcome applications from suitably qualified candidates, particularly in the areas of Gaelic literature (medieval to modern), folklore, onomastics and sociolinguistics, history and material culture of the Highlands, and traditional music.

Applicants are asked to contact the Head of Research, Abigail Burnyeat, in the first instance to discuss their prospective project and the application process: ab2.smo@uhi.ac.uk

<https://www.uhi.ac.uk/en/research-enterprise/grad-school/studentships/ahrc-studentships/>